A Brief Description of the Finest House

Bay Point and a Sketch of Its Eventful Past.

Rockland Steps a Few Paces Higher Up the Ladder of Progress.

Bay Point's long looked for reception occurred Wednesday evening, and was an event of no little importance in Rockland's history.

Wednesday's afternoon train brought a big delegation from away, who were met at the depot by the reception committee and conveyed in stylish equipages through Rockland's paved Main street to the Point. Here the following menu was discussed by 200 hungry guests, as they looked from the broad enameled windows, and drank in the most beautiful scenery on the Atlantic coast:

SOUPS. Fish Chowder.

The tables were artistically laid, the various dishes exquisitely prepared, while the service was perfect. When night's sable curtain was rung down, the moon, by special arrangement with the management, shone most brilliantly.

Capt. W. H. Luce, who had charge of the illuminations, didn't intend to let the moon do it all, and when his busy force finished their work, a scene from fairy land was presented to admiring Rockland. From the top of the lofty tower brilliant lanterns of varying colors sent a path of light out beyond the granite breakwater.

A FANTAZING CHALLENGE

Uncle Sam's light house on bluff Owl's Head. From the myriad of windows along the far-stretching wings lights flashed and flamed, while the sloping verandas were thickly festooned with brightly colored lanterns.

The outlying cottages were brilliant with colored lamps, the elegant little cottage of R. Y.
Orie, up the Rockland road, being especially resplendent. Along the borders of the hall mile of broad boulevard hundreds of lanterns dipped and nodded a welcome to the occupants of the hundreds of barouques, coupes, cabrio-lets, Goddards, surrys and the like, which looked almost ghostly with their white-veiled passengers as they noiselessly sped along the well kept thoroughfare. At the entrance of the boulevard a row of brilliant lights marked the entrance to the Bay Point grounds. The picture should have been seen to be appreciated.

Across our beautiful bay a swollen path of moonlight shimmered and flashed, while the lights of fifty vessels, a found

hundred of pulling boats and

mosquito craft sped backward and forward enjoying the gay scene and the stirring music.

Don't ask us to describe it! We can't!

INTO THE WHIRL.

And the carriages! How they flew, and how the horses steamed and pranced as they drew up with a flourish under the sheltering portico of the veranda. And here the indications of good management were again apparent. A steady hand took the horses by the head, a careful hand threw a protecting covering over the dusty wheels, a gentlemanly hand assisted the arrivals out, suave ushers showed the gentlemen to the coat room, the ladies to the dressing room, and so the big affair progressed.

In the house and outside all was pleasurable excitement and bustle, and in apparent chaos
the best of order prevailed. In the music room the Salem Cadet Band, sixteen pieces, the looking men and expert, skilled musicians, discouraged delightful music. The program of this concert is below. The piccolo solo by Mr.
Elliott and the rendering of "Il Trovatore"
was especially commendable.

CONCERT.

March—Father Victor.
Overture—Crown Diamond.
Solo for Piccolo—La Fleurance.
Mr. Elliott.

Patrol—The Double.
Selection—Il Trovatore.
Finale—Erminie.

To say that this music was enjoyed would be expressing about half of it, and the music room was thronged as was the veranda outside, each number being received with loud applause. In the parlors Governor Burleigh, council and staff

W. T. Cobb, of this city performing the honors in that happy, dignified way which so adds to the pleasure of such occasions. A constant stream of people passed through the parlors, eager to meet our chief executive, staff, council, Congressmen Dingley, Reed, Ex-Governor Noble and the ladies of the party. Gov.
Burleigh is a very approachable man, knows how to shake hands, is handsome, finely formed, dresses well, and is a royal good fellow. His companions were of the same pattern and it certainly made a most pleasant group to meet.

THE DECORATIONS

Were not elaborate but very tasty indeed. The music room especially made a pretty picture.
The big mirror was embedded in a mass of fragrant water lilies that looked beautiful and smelled more so. The recessed music platform was fringed with exotics in blossom and rare ferns. On the mantles of the various rooms bouquets of beautiful cut flowers were placed.

At the entrance of the music room a big birch canoe swung overhead, sprays of evergreen drooping over the side. Elegant Persian rugs and embroideries, kindly furnished by S. A.
Kenney of Smyrna, Turkey, were noticeable
for their richness and beauty.

When ten o'clock arrived, for time had been passing just as though "the best time yet" was not in progress, fair maids and bewitching matrons tripped to the spacious dining hall, where the entrancing strains of a beautiful quadrille by Danore and a floor as shiny as a bald-head invited them. The merry manufacturers occupied a little seat of honor in one corner, and the room was soon a merry scene of gallant and lady, threading the intricate mazes of the fascinating and limb-wearying dance. Governor Burleigh showed himself an excellent dancer with Mrs. Mayor White for a partner, the head of our state participating several times, with all the enthusiasm of the younger lads. Ex-Gov. Noble, who is known as a fine dancer, could not keep away from this jolly center of mirth, and took a hand himself.

Here the beautiful costumes were seen to advantage, and here the gay uniforms of the chivalrous staff got in their work with telling effect. 'Twas fine! E. W. Berry had charge of the floor, and of course everything passed off pleasantly. The music was perfect and the prompter, Mr. George Bigelow, an artist in his chosen calling—off the changes—joke!

AWAY TO THE BANQUET.

At ten o'clock the wide doors of the billiard hall were thrown open, and here hungry guests thronged about the big table which actually grew weak-kneed under the load of dainties which the efficient corps of waiters shyly served.

There was salad from the lobster made and salad
made from salmon.
There was ham and tongue for every one, well served and without sumptuous.
There were fancy cakes, sandwiches, rolls and tarts
without number.
With olive, rice, and lemonade served up in a tony tumbler.

G. D. Robinson of Portland had charge of this branch of the service, bringing four of his men with him. Chef Cronin of the Bay Point House was assisted in the hall by Head Waiter Biggins, Bart Danahue and others of the efficient and experienced Thorndike force. Chef Ahn of the Thorndike assisting in carving.

About 600 people sampled the rich eatables thrust forth. The tables looked tempting and 'twas hard work to get away after once you had a taste. The gathering broke up about two o'clock and a tired but enthusiastic crowd wended between gates that "twas a big, big time."

their ability to successfully conduct the house
affairs.

BAY POINTERS.

The Bay Point Co. has 60 stockholders.
The evening seemed made for the occasion.
The first name on the register is Hon. F. E.
Richards.

The new Bay Point Club House is without question the best equipped, best furnished summer hotel in Maine. Nothing at Bar Harbor equals it in point of quality. There are larger houses, but nothing to equal the Bay Point in elegance of furnishings and cheerfulness of the rooms.

Bay Point is so situated that the searher
after a summer house building spot can secure either a lot "near the briny" or can have the drier, yet bracing air of high elevations. The drives in the vicinity are of more than ordinary beauty and in whatever direction the drive is taken comfortable hosteleries are found where a lunch, or dinner or supper can be had at a moment's notice.

A reporter of the Portland Argus, who was present, thus enthuses over the beautiful scenery

The view from the hotel is superb. From every room in the house can be obtained both land and ocean view. From the eastern verandas, in the immediate foreground, is one of the grass-grown ruins of one of the fortifications thrown up by the government during the war, while a little to the right stretches out the breakwater, at the head of which is the quaint-est, prettiest little light imaginable. The flame of its candle burns night and day. Beyond these lay the harbor and bay, while away to the right is Owl's Head with its beacon light and the southern land side of the harbor, to the left the long stretch of main land and islands which make up the eastern coast line of Penobscot Bay. To the south the city of Rockland from two to four miles away, the hazy smoke from her time kilns rising and floating away in listless, dreamy reverie-compelling fashion. To the west and north the mountain ranges of Camden and Hope rising in fantastic shapes with that peculiar purple hue so picturesquely described by Charles Ebert Craddock often hanging over them. Just back from the hotel, a short carriage drive, is an elevation known as Juniper Hill, up this, is a winding carriage drive to a little chalet, environed with spruce and juniper. This spot is one of the loveliest on the entire coast of Maine. For over one hundred and fifty years it has been in the possession of the family, of which the president of the Bay Point Club is a direct descendant. Superb as is the view from the hotel, it is not to be compared to that from the "Chalet." It is useless to give the faintest idea of magnificence in words. To the Bay Point Club House with its wealth of scenery and matchless furnishing, came last evening the most distinguished company ever gathered in Maine at one time to honor the formal opening of a summer resort.

Such an array of elegant costumes this section of the state never before saw. Tux C.G.'s two lady reporters were kept busy from eight until two o'clock. It is more than possible that the following list is not complete, but it is as near complete as circumstances would permit:

Mrs. E. C. Burleigh, Augusta, handsome reception dress of canny falls Francaise, en train, square cut corsage, filled in with point
lace, elbow sleeves edged with same, diamonds.

Miss Burleigh, gown of rosin's egg blue silk,
low-cut, sleeveless, with guipure of Honiton
lace and necklace of seed pearls.

Mrs. G. L. Thompson, Brunswick, beautiful costume of delicate white lace over lavender silk, trained skirt, bodice V-neck and sleeveless, rubies and pearls.

Mrs. T. Lord, Standish, elegant and becoming gown of flame-colored sateen and plush,
en train, front draped with black thread lace,
square-neck with garniture of same, sleeveless,
diamonds.

Mrs. S. W. Carr, Bowdoinham, handsome black lace over sateen, high-cut, point lace,
diamonds.

Mrs. D. W. Allen, Fairfield, gown of rich steel colored Persian silk with Persian trimming, thread lace garniture, cluster of beautiful dabbias on bodice.

Mrs. W. T. Cobb, rich white costume of faulle Francaise and striped tulle, diamond jewels and Jacqueminot roses.

Mrs. Nelson Dingley, Lewiston, elegant cor-tume of black lace over silk, diamonds.

Miss Edith Curtis, Westbrook, Mass., gown of white mull, garniture of pink ribbon and roses.

Mrs. Ingalls, Wiscasset, attractive costume of white net over satin, low corsage and sleeveless, jewels of diamonds and pearls.

Miss Robie, Gorham, gown of rich white silk with duchesse lace, corsage bouquet of La France roses.

Mrs. Roscoe Bowers, Saco, black Chantilly lace and satin, neck and sleeves edged with pearl beads, diamonds.

Miss Bowers, Saco, becoming dress of white albatross and lace, diamonds.

Mrs. G. F. Burgess, Rockport, black fish-net over black satin, V-neck, sleeveless bodice, corsage bouquet of honeysuckles, diamonds.

Miss Burgess, Rockport, white embroidered
mull, V-neck, necklace of tiny silver beads, Catherine Mermet roses at bodice.

Mrs. Geo. E. Macomber, Augusta, black Chantilly lace over sateen of roses sateen, garniture of embroidered sateen and lace.

Mrs. H. C. Chapman, Bangor, cream mohair with moire ribbon, point lace, Catherine Mer-met roses.

Mrs. Cunningham, Brooklyn, N. Y., white brocade sateen, square neck sleeveless bodice, duchess lace, necklace of gold beads, diamonds.

Mrs. Fred E. Richards, Portland, beautiful train Princess gown of light blue satin, with front of pearl-beaded tulle, square neck corsage, garniture of point lace, elegant diamonds.

Johnston, N. Y. now indulges in a big flood. What's in a name?

The prettiest young lady in Bar Harbor is a present said to be Miss Laura Shannon of Washington, D. C. Miss Shannon is a very pretty lady but would have had little show at Bay Point the other night.

The first building association or "building club," was organized in Philadelphia in 1831; there are now about 4,000 such associations in the United States and their accumulations of property represent $300,000,000. As a mutual help they are a magnificent success.

Mrs. Eliza Gardner of Boston has made and presented to the Mutual Benefit Society, So. Camden, a very handsome quilt containing over 2,000 pieces. Although Mrs. G. is 82 years of age, she made the quilt without assistance and without the use of spectacles. She is now visiting her son at Rockport.

Church building seems to have a boom in this section of the state. Work begins today on the new and enlarged Catholic church in this city, the Advents are to build a new church in Washington, the Tennant's Harbor Baptists are to build a new church, while a fine chapel is in process of erection in Cushing.

The Bay Point opening was such an important event in our history as a city that we know our readers will pardon us for devoting so much space to it this week, and in this connection we wish to thank J. W. Crocker for favors received. Mr. Crocker is secretary of the Bay Point Co. and great credit is due him for the successful arrangement and carrying out of the plans.

Tom Reed was a jolly centre of attraction while in the city. Speaking about the close calls he has had in his district he delivered himself as follows: "In the last campaign we took our district out of the doubtful column, but I guess with the aid of the various postoffices we'll get it back there again." What's the matter with letting the postoffices alone when there are good men there?

The celebrated Kong mountains of Africa are about to follow the Mountains of the Moor, which have been expunged from the maps. These mountains were supposed to be stretched across Africa for ten degrees of longitude about two hundred miles north of the Gulf of Guinea. Captain Ringer, who has now returned from nearly two years' explorations in the almost unknown region north of the Gulf of Guinea, says there is no such range as the Kong Mountains.

The Boston Hotel Gazette says: Beyond a doubt, Maine is the coming summer resort of the United States. No further proof of this is necessary than the fact that her most prominent and wealthy citizens are to spend this summer there. Many of them have homes in and around Portland, Bangor and other large cities, and for years they have felt inclined to go "away" for the summer. This year Maine is good enough for them. They care neither for the fame of having spent the season in "Yarrup," nor for the lean pocket-books that follow a visit to Saratoga. The mountains of New Hampshire and Vermont are good enough in their way, but after all, they give us Maine. There is a something about the variety of ocean air and scenery unobtainable elsewhere. In their choice, Maine people show good taste.

Yesterday the peddlers' license law went into effect. On and after that date every person must show a license who goes about from town to town or from place to place in the same town, exposing for sale or selling, any goods or chattels other than fruit grown in the United States, fruit trees, provisions, live animals, brooms, agricultural implements, fuel, newspapers, books, pamphlets, agricultural products of the United States, the products of his own labor or the labor of his family, any patent of his own invention or in which he has become interested. Sick or disabled soldiers and sailors are exempt from paying the license fees, nor is the law applicable to commercial agents selling goods by samples to dealers only. The licenses are to be good for a year, and must be exhibited to any officer of the law who asks for them. Violations of the act are punishable by a fine not exceeding $200 for each offence, half to go to the prosecutor and half to the town.

A correspondent of the Bar Harbor Record is trying to make the fog attractive. Hear him:

On its first appearance it seems like the loom of land on the horizon—a dark, indistinct mass. Look again, after awhile, and there are fleecy clouds of dazzling whiteness crowding in by Schoodic Point and Otter Cliffs. They are rolled hither and thither by the varying puffs of wind, now getting in as far as Egg Rock and shrouding the lighthouse and keeper's dwelling in a ghostly mantle; and again, playing at hide-and-seek in the gorge, or chasing each other in scattered detachments over the bare rocky slopes of Dry Mountain or the stunted spruce growth of Newport. Then, presto! the scene is changed, and the white battalions are marshaled in close battle array to carry the village by storm. Steadily they advance to the attack. The outpost at Egg Rock is the first to fall, surprised by the steady advance of the foe. Towering for a moment high above the vanguard of the fog and suddenly assuming gigantic dimensions, it as suddenly disappears in its silent embrace. Skirmishing parties are sent out from either flank, and flying squadrons of light clouds skirt the shores of Winter Harbor and Guletboro and hover over the hillside on the outskirts of the village.

Northport is now quite lively. Editor Pillsbury of the Belfast Journal, Col. W. H. Fogler and others of Belfast are there.

Conference (Methodist), and a resident of Bangor, will be grieved to know that he is having a particularly hard time of it in the far western city where he went last fall for the benefit of his health. To add to his troubles, his finances are depleted, and being unable to pay rent, he had to leave the house he occupied, and with his family is now living in a tent. He has written to one of the places where he formerly labored, for assistance, and some other ministers in the Conference, though no appeal has been made to them, have seen fit to put the matter before their congregations, and say a word in behalf of their afflicted brother."

TO THE RESCUE.

How Uncle Sam Protects His Sea Faring Subjects.

Capt. J. M. Richardson, Superintendent of the First Life Saving District, comprising Maine and New Hampshire, was in the city Thursday, having just returned from White Head. He had completed his inspection from Eastport to this city, and reports the various stations in fine condition, especially the White Head station. This is one of the most important record kept at the coast reports 36,000 sail of vessels passing the Head annually, while many more pass in the night and fog who are not recorded. The locality is a very dangerous and treacherous one, and the service correspondingly perilous. Capt. Richardson says that Capt. Shea is one of the most capable and faithful men in the service and is backed by a sterling crew.

With reference to the station at Marshall's Point, allowed last winter, Capt. Richardson has grave doubts as to its receiving any attention for some time. It may not, in fact, be built for ten years. For example a station was allowed at Damariscotta Island eight years ago, but there is no station there yet. The amount allowed each year for new stations is $50,000 and the number of new stations is limited to ten. Each year a large number of new stations are allowed, and then the most exposed ones receive attention. Capt. Richardson went to the mouth of the Kennebec from here. Two new buildings are to be put up this season in the 1st District, at Wallace Sands, N. H., and Rye Beach, N. H., the latter to take the place of an old one.

Gen. Superintendent Kimball is coming down this way on a tour of inspection, and may possibly visit this county, but it is not probable. Capt. Richardson has been in the service fifteen years and is a most efficient officer. His headquarters are in Portland.

Hanly & Shaw have sold a building lot on Otis street, off Fulton, to Mrs. Hannah Wilson, who will build there at an early day. They have bought Mrs. Wilson's cottage at Ingraham's Hill. The firm has also sold a building lot on Grace street to L. S. Robinson.

Two small fires disturbed the equipoise of our city, Thursday afternoon. The first was at Charles Bowen's, Gay street, and the second in The Thorndike. The latter originated in the partition of the new part from the laundry stove. Both were quickly discouraged by wet water from Oyster River, with slight damage.

WORK BEGINS.

The contract for building the new Catholic church in this city has been awarded John Sullivan of Medford, Mass., for $8500, he being the lowest bidder. The edifice will be of wood, 80x45 feet, with basement and organ loft and will have a seating capacity of 500, nearly twice as large as the old church. Work commences today, and the church will be ready for occupancy Feb. 1st. A fine pipe organ will probably be placed in the church.

GREAT INVENTION.

A Thomaston Master Mariner Who Has Struck a Rich Thing.

Capt. David Rivers of Thomaston, in command of ship A. G. Ropes, the finest American ship afloat, has invented and patented a device for registering the number of fathoms of chain run out when a vessel's anchor is dropped.

The device is attached to the wildcat of the windlass, and as the chain runs out a dial indicates the number of fathoms and fractions of fathoms out. Sea-faring men who realize the importance of knowing how much chain is in their worst forms have been permanently healed by this method of treatment. Come and see and know for yourself that the sick can be made whole.

OFF MATINICUS.

Penobscot Bay the Scene of His Honor, the Sea Serpent's Operations.

The Machias Republican tells the following story: Early the other morning, when off Matinicus, bound east, Capt. J. L. Chase of schooner Jerusha Baker, saw what was apparently a strange fish, of unusual size, resting on the surface of the water, about 100 yards distant. The captain called the attention of his mate to the supposed whale, and while watching it was horrified to see an enormous head rise from the water and the mass extend itself into a snake-like form, leaving no room for doubt that they were in the presence of a veritable sea serpent. "He lifted that big head out of water," said the captain, "until he could overlook the Jerusha's deck, and then, much to our relief, began slowly to swim in a direction opposite to that in which we were moving, sometimes looking back, as though watching up. Besides the head and five or six feet of neck, covered with glistening scales, we could see at least ten feet of the tail, which was smooth and shaped like an oar. Altogether the creature could not have been an inch short of 40 feet long. Not being equipped for hunting sea serpents we kept our course, and were glad when the streaks of foam that marked the monster's path through the water disappeared in the distance."

Both Capt. Chase and the mate, Mr. Chas. Huntley, are well known in this vicinity and their veracity will not be questioned. They state positively that there could have been no deception or optical illusion in the matter, the weather being clear, and every inch of the monster's head and neck was distinctly visible at a distance of not more than a hundred yards when first seen; and although scientists may sneer and newspaper humorists deride, Capt. Chase and his crew are so confident that an immense serpent-like animal is cruising off the coast of Maine as they are of the existence of their own good schooner.

GRANITE CHIPS.

Little Flying Fragments From Busily
Booming Yards.

The Boston branch of the Granite Cutters' Union has succeeded in establishing a scale of wages with 21 out of the 25 firms in that city. The present bill of prices, with the exception of one item, is the same that has been in force during the past three years.

The Crested Butte, Colorado, Pilot says the marble found in that vicinity "is superior in fineness and texture to any yet found in America." The commissioners have decided to use both native granite and marble in the capitol building.

The Berlin Granite Co. is making extensive improvements at its quarries, at Berlin, Vt., near Montpelier. The addition of large cutting sheds, polishing mills, improved machinery and modern appliances for handling their work, indicates that the company intends pushing Berlin granite to the front. It is a fine grained granite, admirably adapted to monumental work.

The newly organized Watmore & Morse Granite Co. has secured an excellent location for its new works at Montpelier, on two lines of road; the Central Vermont and Montpelier and Wells River, affording direct communication with its quarries at Barre, and unsurpassed shipping facilities. The new plant, which is to be one of the largest in the country, will be ready for occupancy during the summer. In the meantime it is operating in its old quarters at Barre.

M. J. Lynch, Chiseler, Mass., has the contract for a Celtic cross 10 feet high to be made of granite, highly polished, for the Healy memorial.

The Rhode Island Granite Co. of Westerly, R. I., has the contract for a large Cincinnati building in which principally Concord granite is to be used.

The Dubuette Co. of Westerly, R. I., is quarrying an exceptionally fine quality of blue Westerly stone, for which it is having quite a demand. The company is also one of the largest granite firms in Scotland, where it employs upwards of 100 men at their Dalbeattie and Peterhead quarries.

Sixty men are now employed in the quarry of the Wadsworth Granite Co., and in the sheds.

A vast deposit of black marble of a fine quality has been discovered in Floyd County, Ga.

Two carloads of Colorado granite have been shipped into Michigan for monumental purposes. It is thought to be the first Western granite shipped so far east for monuments.

The spire of the Vermont state monument for Gettysburg weighed over 35 tons and, according to the St. Johnsbury Republican, is the largest piece of granite ever taken out of the Dunsmuir quarries. The Carriek Bros. Granite Co. of that city has just erected a monument at Gettysburg.

Geo. W. Pettengill of Sullivan has opened a granite quarry on Swan's Island, and has twenty men at work there. They are getting a fine quality of granite which is very easily worked. They have built a good wharf and two vessel loads of paving are all ready for shipment.

For three years the process of getting out and shipping granite for the Pittsburgh post-office and court house, has been going on at the Christopher Binder & Sons quarry, East Bluehill. The pay roll now amounts to between fifteen thousand and seventeen thousand dollars each month. About one hundred and seventy-five tons are prepared each month, ready to be put in position on arrival. The largest finished block called for in the plans weighs twenty-five tons and the smallest fifty pounds. Three hundred men are at work—Ellsworth American.

A blast in the Jonesboro quarry last week revealed a vein of pure white quartz, which was interspersed with beautiful clear stone, which appeared to be of exquisite workmanship. Some were diamond-shaped, some pointed and interwoven with a pure pink stone of smooth surface. In viewing it one would suppose it could be easily taken apart with the fingers, as the different colors appear to be separate. It is indeed a natural curiosity.—Machias Republican.

A new industry has recently started in Manchester-by-the-Sea. The scarcity of bait has led the fishermen to catch their crabs with cods, and they prove much better than herring, as dogfish will not touch them, and as they are tough they will hold on the hooks much better. It is not uncommon to see from twenty to thirty men on the docks picking cods, and from fifty to seventy-five buckets are secured at each tide.—Boston Transcript.

Boothbay reports the arrival of the porphy. One steamer brought in 2000 barrels, and sailing craft are scooping them in as fast as they can carry them. The water outside of Boothbay is alive with them. "Seems almost as if you could walk on the sea," says one who has just come in from outside. The bays are also alive with the sardine herring. A few mackerels are being picked up, but these fish are scarce as the fabled teeth of Venus.

Advices received by the fisheries department, Ottawa, are to the effect that the mackerel catch along the Canadian seaboard is proving a failure this season. The catch has been decreasing since 1884, and this is attributed to the extensive use of purse seines. Commander Gordon of the Canadian fisheries protection service has presented to the government the necessity of adopting a restrictive measure.

HIGH LICENSE.

A Correspondent Strikes Out From the Shoulder.

LANOINE, July 5th.

Mr. Editor:
The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has just decided against the high license system. The Boston Journal remarks that prohibitionists are greatly discouraged at this obstruction of the temperance cause. We don't believe it. Prohibitionists have far more to hope for from a deluge of rum, fire and overflowing, which shall arouse the people of Pennsylvania to an uncompromising extermination of this state from the saloon power, than from the gentle high license monopoly which conceals the cancer and fosters its growth. That is the trouble in Massachusetts. If the bill could be unmasked and exhibited in all its dimensions to the public eye, the knife of prohibition would be applied straightway. Of all state protected monopolies that covered by the high license is most inimical to the common weal.

LIBERTY.

Herbert Rowell had one of his fingers jammed in a shocking manner while oiling the machinery at the tannery.... S. T. Young is pushing his wool to market, having bought about 20,000 pounds for Camden parties this season.... Miss Madge Walker has returned from St. Louis, where she has been attending school since last September.... Mrs. Dr. Clough fell and broke her arm Monday, 1st inst.... The mail on the four routes that go from this village started on the new contracts Monday morning, July 1st. The contractors are all new except one. Ezra has the old route via Seaboard village to Belfast; Hartie Brown has the route from here to Belmont, via North Seaboard, which has been changed from a tri-weekly to a daily; Charles Barnard of Union has the route from here to Wadsworth, and a man named Kitchen from Branch Mills has the route from here to Augusta.

The Commercial Union Telegraph Company of Maine has its poles erected as far as Brunswick. By the first of August, if nothing unforeseen prevents, the line will be in working order to Bath, Brunswick, Lewiston and Auburn.

Mr. C. E. Arnold of Albany, N. Y., the general manager of the Commercial Union, has been in Maine to inspect the operations, and expressed himself as much pleased with the progress made and the manner in which the work is being done.

WOMEN IN EUROPE.

Exchange.

A travelled Chinese mandarin who has lately communicated his impressions of the West to his countrymen, deals with great particularity with the position and treatment of women in Europe. These surprised him beyond measure. Thus the notion of husband and wife walking arm in arm in public places fills him with amusement. "No body smiles at it," he says, "and even a husband may perform any menial task in his wife's presence, yet no one will laugh at him." Then, again, the notion of men standing aside to let a woman pass, and the code of politeness which requires men to make way for a woman, are to him incomprehensible. In China, when the men are gorged, the women dine off the scraps, but in the West "at meal time the men must wait until the women are seated, and then take one after another their places, and the same rule must be observed when the meal is finished."

SOME JOKES ARE DANGEROUS.

Chicago News.

People have been reminded lately of a certain story about a young lady and a telephone. A young man who had been very attentive to her was out of town, and the girl thought it would be a nice, polite attention to his mother, who was at the Palace Hotel, to ring her up by telephone and say "How do you do?"

Her way of saying "How do you do?" was, however, somewhat unusual: for when the elder lady came to the telephone in response to the call the dialogue was as follows:

"Good morning, Mrs. —, I am Miss —."

"Yes?"

"Do you know where your son is?"

"He has been staying in Oakland for two or three days."

"Yes, he married me the other day and we are living over here in Oakland."

There was absolutely no foundation for the statement, and the young lady, who was telephoning from her own home, intended it only as a joke, but she found to her cost that such jokes are decidedly dangerous.

"My love, what magic spell is thrown upon your face? Its charm I own. Whence came thy pure and pearly teeth? Thy rosy lips? Thy perfumed breath?" She said in accents sweet and clear, "Tis only SOZODONT, my dear."

THE ATMOSPHERE OF LOVE

Is a pure, sweet breath. This desideratum is one of the results of using SOZODONT, which not only invigorates and preserves the teeth, but renders the mouth as fragrant as a rose. "SEALING THE GUMS," hardly about this: house, mends everything.

The Choir's Way of Telling It.

Good Housekeeping.

Attending services not long ago in an elegant church edifice, where they worship God with taste in a highly æsthetic manner, the choir began that scriptural poem which compares Solomon with the lilies of the field, somewhat to the former's disadvantage. Although never possessing a great admiration for Solomon, nor considering him a suitable person to hold up as a shining example before the young men's Christian association, still a pang of pity for him was felt when the choir, after expressing unbounded admiration for the lilies of the field, which it is doubtful if they ever observed very closely, began to tell the congregation, through the mouth of the soprano, that "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed." Straightway the soprano was reinforced by the bass, who declared that Solomon was most decidedly not arrayed. Then the alto ventured it as her opinion that Solomon was not arrayed, when the tenor, without a moment's hesitation, sung as if it had been officially announced that "he was not arrayed." Then, when the feelings of the congregation had been harrowed up sufficiently, and our sympathies all aroused for poor Solomon, whose numerous wives allowed him to go about in such a fashion even in that climate, the choir altogether, in a most cool and composed manner, informed us that the idea they intended to convey was that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed "like one of these." These what?

So long a time had elapsed since they sang of the lilies that the thread was entirely lost, and by "these" one naturally concluded that the choir was designated. Arrayed like one of these? We should think not, indeed! Solomon in a Prince Albert or cutaway coat? Solomon with an eye-glass and a moustache, his hair cut Pompadour? No, most decidedly. Solomon in the very zenith of his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

Despite the experience of the morning, the hope still remained that in the evening a sacred song might be sung in a manner that might not excite our risibilities, or leave the impression that we had been listening to a case of black-mail. But again old started the nimble soprano with the very loud though startling announcement, "I will wash." Straightway the alto, not to be outdone, declared she would wash. And the tenor, finding it to be the thing, warbled forth he would wash. Then the deep-chested basso, as though calling up all his fortitude for the plunge, bellowed forth the stern resolve that he also would wash. Next a short interlude of the organ, strongly suggestive of the escaping steam or splash of the waves, after which the choir individually and collectively asserted the firm, unshaken resolve that they would wash. At last they solved the problem by stating that they proposed to "wash their hands in innocence, so will the altar of the Lord be compassed."

THE SUPPLY OF TIMBER.

Scientific American.

The Timberman does not seem alarmed at the prospect of an early destruction of our timber supply. It asserts that Pagan Sound has 1,800 miles of shore line, and all along this line, miles and miles farther than the eye can reach, is one vast and almost unbroken forest of enormous trees. The forests are so vast that, although the sawmills have been ripping 500,000,000 feet of lumber out of them every year for the past ten years, the spaces by these incursions seem no more than garden patches. An official estimate places the amount of standing timber in that area at 50,000,000 feet, or a thousand years' supply, even at the enormous rate the timber is now being felled and sawed. The editor adds that the timber belt of Washington territory covers an area equal to that of the states of Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Hampshire.

No Oxygen in the Sun's Atmosphere.

London Standard.

M. Janssen, member of the Institute, and Director of the Meudon Observatory, has made a discovery of importance recently. The rays of electric light from the top of Eiffel tower were concentrated, by his request, for half an hour on his observatory, which is 7,800 metres from the tower, or a distance exactly equal to what the height of the terrestrial atmosphere would be if the air had the same density all through as it has on the surface of the earth. The number of molecules of air met with by the rays of the electric light directed from the Eiffel Tower on the Meudon observatory must, therefore, have been the same as those met with by the sun's rays at noon in summer.

M. Janssen has long since declared there is no oxygen in the atmosphere of the sun, and he has, it is affirmed, now proved it by a recent experiment.

One of the fundamental theorems of spectral analysis is that the value of the characteristic rays of a gaseous substance is proportionate to the number of molecules traversed by the ray of light. He found that the ray of light from the Eiffel Tower had precisely the same value as if it had come from the sun. The photographs taken by M. Janssen will be exhibited at the Academy of Science.

Unhappy Juror (to Boodle Alderman, whom he helped acquit)—"You remember me I guess; one of your jurors. I was kept from my business three months and it went to the dogs. I am sick and poor. Give me a little help won't you?"

What to Teach Your Daughter.

Philadelphia Record.

"What shall I teach my daughter?" Teach her that 100 cents make $1.

Teach her how to arrange the parlor and library.

Teach her to say "no" and mean it, or "yes" and stick to it.

Teach her how to wear a calico dress, and do it like a queen.

Teach her how to sew on buttons, darn stockings and mend gloves.

Teach her to dress for comfort and health as well as appearance.

Teach her to make her sleeping room the neatest room in the house.

Teach her that tight lacing is unhealthy as well as very injurious to health.

Teach her how to cultivate flowers and make and keep the kitchen garden.

Teach her to regard no one as a friend, and not money in selecting her associates.

Teach her to observe the old rule, "A place for everything and everything in its place."

Teach her the important truism that the more she lives within her income the more she will save and the farther she will get away from the poor-house.

Teach her that a good, steady, church-going mechanic, farmer, clerk or teacher, without a cent is worth more than forty loafers or non-producers in broadcloth.

Merchant—"You want a place in my store, you say?" "Yes, sir." "Ever worked in a store before?" "Yes, sir."

"Let me try you. Suppose a lady should come in with a piece of cloth and want to get a number of yards to match it, what would you do?" "I'd send her to the next counter." "I guess you've had experience."—"Time."

Dr. Benj. Dillard, druggist, at Aurora, Mo., says: I sell a great quantity of S. S. S. for Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, and other blood troubles. I have never heard of a case of failure to cure.

Pimples, blotches and eruptions on the skin evidence the fact that the blood is in bad shape and these symptoms show that nature is trying to throw off the impurities, in which the effect they should be assisted by a reliable vegetable blood remedy, as is Swift's Specific.

Mr. John B. Harrison, of Springfield, Ill., says that he had blood trouble for quite a time; his tonsils were swollen, eruptions over his hands and face, followed by paralysis of the face which was all relieved by Swift's Specific, and after the lapse of seven years there has been no sign of a return of the disease.

Over four years ago Swift's Specific cured me of a troublesome eruption which covered my shoulders, back and limbs. This was after I had been treated for six doctors, some of whom said I never would get well.

E. M. Hubsey, Sherman, Texas.

VIGOR AND VITALITY

Are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. That tired feeling is quickly overcome. The blood is purified, enriched and vitalized, and carries health instead of disease to every organ. The stomach is toned and strengthened, the appetite restored. The kidneys and liver are roused and invigorated. The brain is refreshed, the mind made clear and ready for work. Try it.

HOW NOT

Miss Dell is looking, Addie. Yes, Laura. Why, only a year ago her face was completely covered with pimples, blotches and sores. She told mother that she owed her life, clear complexion to her using Sulphur Bitters. Well, Laura, I shall try them too.

Cold, cough, croup, is what phlegmose term "a logical sequence." One is very liable to follow the other; but by curing the cold with a dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cough will be stopped and the croup not needed—just at present.

CARD OF THANKS.

I hereby desire to extend to all of my friends my thanks for many kindnesses extended to me during my past illness of over three months from rheumatism, and I especially desire to tell them that but for Sulphur Bitters I should have been suffering still. May you never suffer what I have, is the wish of your friend,

Is a question often asked, when a person is found dead that had previously enjoyed good health. The verdict often is "Apoplexy or Heart Disease." Samuel Carvitt, of Fairbanks, Me., says: "Last August I was taken with palpitation of the heart; I could not lie in bed to sleep in my rocking chair; I procured a bottle of Anti-Apoplectic; it relieved me at once so I could lie down and have a good night's rest, and have ever since."

FORCED TO LEAVE HOME.

Over 100 people were forced to leave their homes yesterday to call for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine. GIVE US LIGHT!

Mr. EDITOR.—Why should not the South-end have its share of electric light? Why? Do not the people in that part of the city have to pay their proportion of the taxes? Do they not help pay for these luxuries and conveniences? Why should they not have the privilege of enjoying their share? Is it right for their comfort and necessities to be completely ignored by the city fathers, because it always has been? The walks in that part of the city are positively perilous, the boards are loose, there are large holes, and, truly, it is too dangerous to be safe, even in broad day light. How much more dangerous in some of our dark nights! Then the buildings are quite far apart, and on dark nights there are long distances of unbroken darkness with "never a ray of light" to cheer.

Quite a number of our South-end people have business up in the city, and have to travel back and forth morning and evening. Among the number are a good many ladies. Who more than they would appreciate a few shining lights? Don't forget the South-end when locating the lights. We must have them! Give us two on Main street below the engine house. One who has walked in the darkness long enough.

WANTED TO DIE.

Annie Sleeper of Camden, aged 20 years, at work for the past two years in the laundry, attempted suicide, Tuesday, by a dose of oil of cedar. At the time of taking the doctors were all out of town. After some delay, five answered the call, and had to pry open the mouth to force down emetics, she was so far gone. She will probably recover. On coming to her work, Tuesday, she said to the head woman she did not care to live as her young man was drunk the night before.

The girl has no home, her father living in Appleton, where he married another wife. Annie had been keeping company for some time with a young man whose habits nearly killed her.

PINE SPLINTERS.

The New England Co., Bath, sent off the mounds for a 350 ton schooner Wednesday.... The frame for the 800 schooner to be built for the Morse Bros., the present season, is being landed at the Harrington yard, Bath.... A large part of the frame for G. G. Deering's second thousand ton schooner has been received.... E. S. Crosby has stretched the keel for another large schooner at the John Patton yard.... The Slater yacht Sagamore is to have a new rudder constructed before she can resume her cruising. This part of the vessel was made of sheet iron, riveted on an iron plate, with a single yard's use the plates have been honey combed. It is supposed that electrical currents generated from the copper bottom and the whirling screw have caused the injury.... Kelley & Spear have still two more schooners to set up besides the three still remaining in their yard.

MAINE SHIPBUILDERS.

"Kennebec," in a recent letter to the Boston Journal, reviews the shipbuilders he has known, and after naming a number of Maine yards, says:

I feel as though I must go on to Damariscotta, that once lived with Bath, and mention the Gliddens (among them the founders of Bath & Williams's famous line of Boston and San Francisco packets), the Dicks, Austins, Metcalfs, and more of the same famous port, on to Waldoboro, with its Reeds and Clarks, to Thomaston, with its O'Briens and Watts, to Rockport, and make honorable mention of Carleton & Norwood, who built and own the largest wooden sailing ship we have at present, on to Camden, where the Gov. Ames and many more great four-masted were built, to Belfast and its smart builders (I forget their names), and that wonderful town by the sea, Searsport, and its McGilveys, Pendletons, Nichols, Carvers and others, who it is said, have done more for our commerce in building, owning, managing, commanding and manning vessels than any other place. There is Stockton, Bucksport, Winterport, Frankfort, whose men are high in the annals of shipbuilding, with Bangor at their head. All these towns I am acquainted in more or less.

STRANGE CRAFT.

The people who passed along custom house wharf yesterday saw a strange looking craft moored to a float. It is a catamaran, owned and commanded by Capt. Condon of Friendship, and it hails from that port. The boat or more appropriately boats, as it is made up from two hulls, is about twenty-five feet long. Each of the hulls is decked over and between them the deck of the cabin extends down nearly to the water.

The cabin is easily fitted up with wide berths, a stove, table and seats. The owner uses the boat throughout the summer to cruise along the shore of Maine, where, by means of a photographic outfit, whenever he finds any particularly beautiful spot, he takes its image away to be developed at his leisure.

This vessel is very seaworthy, and is also very fast, the small hulls drawing little water, but enabling the vessel to withstand a heavy breeze. The craft is named White Wings, and the name seems fitting, for as the boat, with its white sails spread, skims over the water, it closely resembles a bird in its airy flight.—Portland Express.

FOR PARDON.

There will be the usual grant of pardon cases to be heard at the next meeting of the Executive Council. Gen. Mitchell will again plead for John F. Lawrence, the Bangor murderer, and Hon. Herbert M. Heath for Lorenzo Turner, of Richmond. Elbridge Stone of St. George, in State prison, having served one-half his sentence for five years for burglary will apply for a pardon. The friends of Elmer D. Merrill, who for criminal malpractice was sentenced from Androscoggin county for life, the Executive Council having commuted his sentence to five years, will ask that a full pardon be granted him. His brother is coming on in his behalf from Michigan.

SALT SPRAY.

The Burgess yacht Monhegan, Capt. M. A. Rice, with party, set sail Thursday for a cruise to Starbuck.... Sch. Yacht Sport, of Boston, with party of seven on board, was in here Saturday, homeward bound.

GRANITE WORKERS.

The National Granite Co. of Rutland has an order of 400 carloads of granite for a bank building in Pennsylvania, to cost $90,000.

The contract for the new Congressional library building at Washington has been awarded to the New England Granite company of Hartford, Conn., at $1,200,000 and it will be cut there, the granite being taken from the quarries of Targent & Sullivan. It is estimated that it will require from 800 to 1000 men four years to execute the work and it is probably the largest granite contract ever let by the government.

DIAMOND DUST.

From the Hard Fought Base Ball Field.

The game of ball Saturday between the Warrens and the R. C. C.'s was the most exciting one that has ever taken place on the association grounds.

It took Warren just eleven innings to defeat the home club.

The playing of the two sides was very even, the errors of both being mainly wild throws. Both sides also batted heavily, the Warrens making the least number of hits but being more successful in placing them. White and Hix knocked the ball over right field fence for two bases each. The playing of Eastman, the Warren left fielder, and Hyler, the R. C. C.'s second-base-man, was especially noticeable. Both pitchers did well in spite of the many runs off each. The score was 14 to 12, eleven innings.

After many years' work on the diamond, Robinson, the well-known first baseman of the Warrens, has been forced by ill health to retire from active service. This intelligence will be a cause of great regret to the ball "cranks" in this city, among whom he was an especial favorite. Totman will play the remainder of the season on the R. C. C.'s as fielder and change pitcher.

Thomaston, having a deficiency of players, will not finish out the season. Its able representatives, Hyler and Mathews, will play on the other county teams.

The dropping out of the Thomaston club leaves but three teams in the county. Warren and the R. C. C.'s are the rivals for first place and if the latter fails to win the next game the Warrens will take the lead. The R. C. C.'s percentage won is 625, that of Warren 571.

The White Caps of Vinalhaven, a nine of juvenile ball tossers, played with THE COURIER-GAZETTE, a corresponding juvenile team from this city, at the High School grounds, Saturday forenoon, the visitors being victorious by a score of 25 to 23.

The R. C. C.'s have improved the appearance of their uniforms by adding new jerseys. They are navy blue in color and on the front, worked in old-gold, are the letters R. C. C.

The Vinalhaven White Caps, who beat the Rockland Juniors, Saturday, are made up as follows: Boman c., Field p., Vinal 3d b., Smith 1st b., Lermond c. b., Johnson s. s., Peaslee r. f., Hall 2b., Northrop, l. f. The score was 25 to 22, and the game an interesting one. The White Caps are fine looking youngsters and are all gentlemanly behaved. The Juniors, who call themselves THE C. G.'s in our honor, go to Vinalhaven Thursday to play a return game. We shall give the make-up of this club next week.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

Nicholas O'Connor of the Easton Electric Co., New York, was in the city Friday in conference with the city government committee. The contract has not yet been signed, but the city streets will probably be illuminated by electricity the first of October. The Easton Co. intend sending a hydraulic engineer to this section to examine the Thomaston water power with a view to locating their plant there, and thus furnish both Rockland and Thomaston with lights.

The Rockland Electric Co. has put an arc light over the front portal of the Lindsey House. This company has now 23 lights in the city.

MAINE MATTERS.

Winthrop is to have electric lights.

The Belfast Odd Fellow Hall will probably be dedicated in September.

As Church Nash of Damariscotta Mills was moving a field Tuesday he made a misstep and fell forward on the cutter bar. His left hand was almost completely severed and the right one so badly mangled that he may lose that member also.

Ice shipping on the Kennebec is in full blast, and nearly every concern on the river is loading cargoes. Two dollars per ton seems to be the ruling price, although some has been sold as high as $2.25. The wages of the workmen have just been increased an average of 25 cents per day. Boys receive $1.00; men in the run, from $1.50 to $1.62; in the hold, stevedores, $2.25; others, $2.00; men in the houses, $1.75 to $2.25.

The fumigation at the insane hospital is progressing most favorably. Over 80 patients are now in the barracks under the care of two attendants by day and two by night. The barracks, which is 150 feet long and 20 feet wide, has a row of bunks on each side, where the patients sleep, and a table running through the center for dining purposes. The wards will be thrown open and will be aired for a few days, then painted to secure the place against contagion from any old germs of disease.

OUR VICINITY.

B. A. White, Superintendent of the Damariscotta Match Company, Damariscotta Mills, reports business as very good with pine. They now have in stock 2,700,000 feet of pine logs and 400,000 hemlock and spruce. They also have a large stock of boards on hand for their match cases and will use this year 400,000 feet of boards for boxes. They are working 75 to 80 men and eight boys and girls. They are getting out a new match card that is selling very fast, much faster in fact than they can be made at present, and more machinery will soon be put in.—Waldoboro News.

Senator Hale made a neat speech to the people of Ellsworth, at the dedication of the new shoe factory in that city on the Fourth of July. He declared his great faith in the future of Ellsworth. "His prosperity is coming," he said. "Our river is navigable to vessels. Union River is fed by 13 ponds which cover an area of 83 square miles, and has a water power sufficient to drive 100,000 horsepower. Good as this new enterprise is and as deserving as it is of our fostering care, it is nothing but a drop in the bucket in comparison to what Ellsworth is capable." Then he told the Ellsworth citizens, frankly, that their great need is a water supply. "Have you water?" is a question that is always asked by a man having an eye to business, he said.

Chas. Kane of Centre Montville, aged 35 years, attempted suicide Sunday evening of last week by cutting his throat. He had been at work with his father all day in the hay field, and on returning to the house complained of not feeling well, and said he would go to his room and lie down, telling them not to disturb him as he wanted to go to sleep. On going to his room an hour later, he was found lying unconscious on his bed, with a fearful gash in his throat. Medical aid was summoned and the wound sewed up. It is doubtful if he recovers. Temporary insanity was the probable cause.

The building fund of the Bangor Young Men's Christian Association has reached the handsome sum of $28,000. The association is in a most prosperous condition and is doing a noble work.

WHY WE SUCCEED!

THE PEOPLE ARE WITH US.

When folks see that we are trying in every possible way to give them more than value for money, more than liberal terms, they begin to think things over, and come to the conclusion that The Atkinson House Furnishing Co. is quite a different institution to what some people would make out. "Why, here," they say, "see, we thought these Atkinsons were like the generality of advertisers, always blowing about what they were willing to do; but we have had proof now that they carry out all that they advertise, and a little more, for on these special orders that they have published this last week or two, you could furnish any room in your house by paying $5 down.

Show us another House Furnishing establishment that will sell you $50 worth of goods, pay freight to your nearest R. R. Station and give you 9 months to pay the balance. Show us any dealers who act so liberally, and so leniently with their customers.

Nothing but pure spite and jealousy has induced reports to be spread about our advertising not being carried out.

Come and deal with us and find out that we are not only the most liberal company, but carry the finest Stock of Furniture and House Furnishings in the State.

A great deal is said against the contract system, some people think that if they are behind 24 hrs. in their payments, that they will lose their goods. What nonsense. What stupidity. Yet, of course, if people act dishonestly such a thing COULD be done. We have never refused an appeal for time, nor ever taken advantage of circumstances, but have pursued dishonest people.

Will any merchant or trader sell you on credit, and not go to law if you refuse, continually, to pay?

Can any farmer who buys his land at so much down, and so much a year get out of paying the promised amount sharp on time, and have interest to pay into the bargain?

Our System is Just. Our System is a Blessing to Those of Limited Means.

Avail yourself of it, you cannot pay all cash, and secure comforts around you, only having to provide but a small amount per week or per month, and enjoy the benefits of your purchases while you pay.

Think these few words over, and use your own judgment in forming an opinion.

We have withdrawn our ORDER SLIPS, but are still offering the same goods at the same prices, but one-fourth of the amount must accompany the order.

THE LOCATION.

North of Rockland is a point of land half in Camden and half in Rockland. This peninsula is formed by Rockland Bay and beautiful South Camden's cove. The Camden half of this point, for which nature has done everything, was bought by Smith Bros., laid out in parks and shady drives, handsome buildings erected, and Warrenton, the finest private estate in Maine, was created. Two years ago well known capitalists from Portland, Boston, New York and elsewhere, headed by Hon. A. F. Crockett of this city, purchased the other half of the Point in Rockland, about 150 acres of land and formed a syndicate, the Bay Point Company, to improve it and erect an elegant club house there. This club house occupies a lofty plateau at the extreme end of the point, near where Uncle Sam's expensive breakwater is in process of erection. In front of the hotel are the ruins of the fortifications erected during the Rebellion by the United States government to protect the harbor. The hotel has two wings, each 115x12 feet, and is so arranged that each of the 60 guest rooms commands a fine view of the ocean, with Rockland on one side and the dark Camden hills on the other. A broad 80-foot boulevard leads to the main road. Back of the hotel the land rises gradually to the base of Juniper Hill, on the top of which is located the big reservoir of the Camden & Rockland Water Co. Near the reservoir is a pretty little chalet, erected by the Crocketts, reached by a winding road around the brow of the hill. From the top of the hill is one of the most beautiful views in the world, and on a clear day the whole of the Pine Tree state seems to be beneath your feet with a large slice of old ocean.

The officers of the Bay Point Co. are as follows: President and Treasurer, A. F. Crockett, Rockland; Secretary, W. S. White, Rockland; Directors, A. F. Crockett, S. M. Bird, D. C. Smith, W. T. Cobb, C. H. Berry, W. W. Case, Rockland, F. E. Richards, Portland, E. C. Swift, W. H. Hill, Boston.

HOME BY THE SEA.

Work commenced on the superstructure of the Bay Point House Dec. 20th, W. H. Glover & Co., builders, Ambrose Mills of the firm having charge of the work. It was to be completed June 15th, but the contract was fulfilled before that time. The house is well built. There are 60 guest rooms, all finely located and tastefully furnished. The building is in two wings, each 115x12 feet, right-angled, and with four stories, with a big tower at the junction of the wings. It has a basement in which are located the pastry department with its big brick oven, the laundry and barber shop and billiard hall. The two latter are splendidly furnished, and are presided over by L. W. Bonner. The main office is 40 feet square, the paneled ceiling supported by pillars. The room is finished in white wood and the walls covered with art paper, representing scenes in the various zones, having all the effect of a series of richly colored paintings. An immense brick fire-place occupies one side of the room, above which is the striking head of a giant moose, encircled with an arrangement of small arms.

From the main office a corridor, ten feet wide, leads to the attractive music room, which is 30x10 feet, with a cosy, recessed stage on which stands an elegant rosewood upright piano. The ceiling is paneled, the finish being in white-wood. The walls are tinted and bordered with a beautiful canopy design.

Opening from the corridor and music room are double parlors for the ladies, provided, as is the music room, with broad fire-places, elegantly tiled. Brussels carpets, tinted walls, and mahogany and plush furnishings, paintings and engravings make these rooms attractive in the extreme. Across the corridor is the reading room, neatly furnished, the walls being brightened with a paper of old design, impossible birds holding unnatural positions, on twigs of ridiculous trees—but somehow it seems to give just the right effect. Of this room is the gent's lavatory, with marble basins, slabs, and the like, the lavatory also opening into the dining room corridor.

Crossing a 15-foot vestibule the elegant dining hall, 40x50 feet, with its paneled ceiling, tinted walls, broad casement windows, polished floor, artistically arranged tables, snowy linen, dainty china, oaken side-boards, and other desiderata is reached. No doubt our readers would like to tarry long here but time forbids. This is a beautiful room, and a very popular one. At the northern end silently swinging doors conceal the pleasant mysteries of the cuisine.

The kitchen has all the modern equipments, massive range, cooking utensils in profusion not confusion, and plenty of room for all things. The kitchen is an important feature in an institution of this sort.

The house is encircled by 350 feet of 50-foot veranda, where a regiment could drill, and a city full dance and hundreds of couples cue.

The house is lighted by gas manufactured on the premises, has water on every floor through a six-inch main from Crystal Lake, pure and unfiltered, in the mountains seven miles back, has speaking tubes, electric bells and everything else you like.—The dining room is finished off in cypress which will be kept bright.—Every floor is provided with faurets, lavatories and water closets.—The drainage will be perfect, as a big drain runs at a steep incline to low tide water.—There are stair-cases in all the ends of the house, a wise provision in case of fire.—The double rooms are provided with double doors.—The broad, winding staircase is a fine piece of work.—There are 16 rooms in the upper story, and good ones, too.—Every room has its own beautiful view of sea and shore.—All the mouldings and other finishing stuff used in the building is Rockland made, from the manufactory of G. F. Kaler & Co.

COST SOMETHING.

The building cost $25,000, the furnishings $15,000, and it cost the men who have engineered the scheme and shouldered it through to success an inconceivable amount of time and labor.

SLIGHTLY HISTORICAL.

Bay Point, originally called Jameson's Point, was the scene of a sharp little conflict between early settlers and a British privateer man Oct. 22, 1814. The story runs as follows:

Oct. 22 a time schooner, Capt. Barns master, came out of what is now Rockland harbor, and seeing a suspicious looking craft approaching took refuge at South Camden (Clam Cove).

The suspicious craft proved to be a revenue boat from Wiscasset. The schooner had been followed on land as far as Bay Point by soldiers, to defend her in case of need. When the stranger proved to be all right, the main body proceeded home, the picket guard, nine men, volunteering, however, to stay and bring the schooner back.

They, however, were observed by the British privateer, Thinks-I-to-Myself, prowling about off in the bay. This vessel was furnished with five guns and one on a pivot, and immediately bore up directly towards them in pursuit.

They stretched along Bay Point, till, getting under the lee of the trees with which it was covered, the wind failed them. The privateer then gained rapidly upon them till she also got under the trees; but, her sails being lofter than theirs, still kept gaining. Coming to a beach beneath a high wooded bank, the schooner was huffed onto it, and the soldiers and crew, twelve in number, got on shore with their weapons and three trunks which the captain felt anxious to save. The privateer came up and opened a brisk fire upon the little party, who lay under the bank concealed from view among the bushes and rocks awaiting her approach. She manned a barge to send after them, and continued firing grape and other shot, which mostly passed over the heads of the men, cutting down shrubs and even small trees on the bank. They waited with muskets well loaded, some of them, with two balls and eleven buck-shot. When the barge came up rounding to and heaving up her
